Setback variance travels long road to approval By Scott Cousins Staff writer

The Pontoon Beach Village Board approved a setback variance for a storage shed after the Zoning Board revoted in favor of the change.

The Village Board voted 4-2 in favor of a request by Patrick Breese for a seven-foot setback for a storage building at 3309 Pontoon Road. He originally had requested a three-foot setback but agreed to the compromise. Trustees Bob Abel, Irene Karlechik, Gus Falter and Randy Presswood voted in favor of the variance. Trustees Bob Vincent and Lou Whitsell opposed the change.

At the last board meeting, the matter had been referred back to the Zoning Board for a revote. Because one member was on vacation at the time of the original Zoning Board vote, it tied 3-3 on the matter.

931-8000

The vacationing member later declined to vote, claiming a conflict of interest.
However, on July 28, the Zoning Board revoted,

Where Beautiful Things Begin

id August can be id August can be a rather slow time for gardeners. After all, it's too early for some things and too late for the rest, or so it seems. But don't fret! As usual, we have some ideas! Here are a few ways to spend time in the garden during these summer days.

Plan on planting some shade trees. Placed in the right location, they can keep your home cooler in the summer. If you have air conditioning, trees will help lower your electric bill. And there's no need to wait until fall, either. You can safely plant trees any time during the growing

This is a good time of year to plan for next year's spring flowering bulbs, such as crocus, daffodils, tulips and hyacinths. Toward the end of this month, you can start to plant them to produce beautiful flowers next spring

Now through early October is excellent for controlling perennial weeds such as dandelion. When spraying herbicides, do so with caution. You don't want to damage nearby shrubs and decorative plants. It's best to pick a calm day.

Grubs may feed on your lawn any time from now through October. Pick up some Diazinon and you'll get rid of the grubs. And as a result, the moles will hit the road as well: grub are a favorite food of moles.

Keep impatiens watered and pinched to extend flowering well into the fall, even up until frost.

Surplus vegetables can be tored in the freezer for later use. Asparagus, beans, broccoli, cauliflower, peas, rhubarb, swiss chard, spinach and corn are all suitable.

Pick broccoli before the dark green cluster opens into yellow flowers.

Feed your roses. This will be the last feeding they'll need this season.

Some fruit trees will not bear fruit for two to six years. If yours didn't bear, bear with it. Another reason for lack of fruit could be the tree needs a proper pollinator.

Check the houseplants you moved outside at onset of summer. Any ed outside at the necessary pruning or insect control that is needed should be done now, before they are brought back inside.

peas, beets, carrots, lettuce, spinach, turnips and endive for a fall crop.

make sure you continue to deeply water the lawn and all shrub and flower beds. One good soaking a week (about an inch of water) is better than watering every day.

If you haven't applied If you haven't applied mulch on your landscape plants yet, now's a good time to. Mulches add a professional look to landscapes, help to deter weeds and conserve moisture, saving plants during dry periods. There are several different types of mulches available.

Pay close attention to any container plants and keep them well watered.

Examine your garden tools. Make sure they're clean and free of rust. They'll give you many more years of service if properly taken care of.

Send us your announcements

Wedding, engagement and anniversary announcements are welcome at the Journal and are printed at no cost. Announcements and photographs may be mailed to the Journal at 1815 Delmar, Granite City, IL, 62040. Use one of the announcements appearing in this issue as a guide. Please include a name and a daytime phone number in case clarification of information is necessary. Clear, black and white photographs reproduce the best, but good color photographs also will work. Mark the back of the photograph with the subject's name. Announcements are used on a space available basis. If accompanied by a self-addressed stamped envelope, the photograph will be returned, or it can be held in the office for pick-up. Because of the large number of announcements, the Journal cannot be responsible for lost or damaged photographs. graphs.

Army vet puts medical training into practice

Special to the Journal

Rebecca Badgerow has known what she wanted to do with her life for as long as she can remember.

"I've wanted to work in the medical field since I was &t least in high school," she said. Badgerow has been a physical therapist for six years, spending the past year at St. Elizabeth Medical Center in Granite City. She recently finished board certification, which, she said, is not often achieved in her field.

understanding, compassionate friends.

Together, the kids and their leaders will work through the emotions of denial, guilt and anger, so they may learn to deal with the separation and loss. They will realize that through Christ, God will give them the understanding they need to rebuild their world.

The program is designed for children in preschool through high school. Free child care is available for children under 4 years.

Edwardsville captures regional championship

Post 199 headed to Legion World Series after 15-2 trouncing of Anderson, Ind.

By Jeffery Williams Correspondent

Edwardsville Post 199 entered Monday night's championship game in the Great Lakes Regional American Edgion Hegion Tournament game.

Post 199 kept the offensive fireworks on display Monday night in Lancaster, Ohio. Edwardsville exceeded its run-scoring average, drubbing Anderson (Ind.) 15-2 to claim the regional tournament championship and earn a tricker in Las Vegas.

Edwardsville, which had lost 7-6 to Anderson in the opening game of the tournament after allowing five runs in the minth inning, scored 13 runs in the first inning Monday. That allowed starting pitcher eath a huge cushion that was never once threatened.

Post 199 hit 454 as a team during its fivegame run to the title.

It bolstered the average by stroking 13 hits in the first inning Monday might. Everyst one hit. David Crouthers led off the inning with a home run to left field. Tim Hansel followed with a double and Chad Opel added another double. Todd Haug's single through the middle gave Edwardsville a 3-0 lead. Nick Seibert was hit by a pitch and Anderson starting pitcher Greg Cauble was done for the might. Greg Cauble was done for the might. MCCoy to ground out! O shortstop, forcing Seibert at second base, his night would get worse.

Ben Margalski anchored the attack, going 2-60-73 with a pair of doubles and two RBI. Clay Moehrs added three safeties and an RBI, while Jim Anderson (two hits), Neil Fiala and Mike Wirth each drove in one run.

Dave Lucht took the loss, allowing 11 hits and six earned runs in a route-going effort. He struck out two.

Waterloo bolted to a 6-0 lead, scoring two in the second and four more an inning later. The Lakers halved the deficit with a three-run fourth. But the Buds added two insurance tallies in the sixth.

Cory Blackwell and Sauget ended the longest winning streak in St. Louis, as the longest winning streak in St. Louis, as the Wizards downed Waterbo 6-2 in semifinal action of the Mon-Clair Lengue playoffs. The Buds, who were 44-0 this season entering Sautrday's contest, had won 48 consecutive contests dating back the 1997 Mon-Clair playoffs.

GRANITE CITY DIST. #9 1998-1999 SCHOOL INFORMATION

tional excellence which began in 1854.

We are particularly proud of the newly renovated high school complex. The renovation project was completed ahead of schedule and within the planned budget of fourteen million dollars. This massive renovation effort could not have been completed without the support of our students, staff and, most of all, the citizens of Community Unit #9.

We look forward, during the next several years, to other significant construction and renovation projects. The School District will combine 3 million dollars, which the Board has saved over the last six years. With 3.6 million dollars in matching state revenue to complete a 6.6 million dollar effort in additional construction and renovation.

Excellence in education requires more, however, than new or renovated school buildings. Our tax-paying citizens should expect and our parents should require that our students study diligently, attend school daily and follow rules for appropriate behavior.

low rules for appropriate behavior.

If we all do our part, the 1998-99 school term will be the best in our 144year history of public education.

Face-lift adds to excitement of new school year

Kids are not always excited about saying goodbye to summer vacation and hello to fall classes.

But this year, Granite City High School students will be returning to a totally renovated high school that basen recognized as a success story and has been used as a model for other school districts around the country.

National praise for the district has come from U.S. Secretary of Education Richard Riley, who declared the school a prime example of making the most of a dollar.

The $14 million high school renovation cost less than half the amount of building a new

The school district issued $12 million in bonds for a complete overhaul and construction of a new addition that includes a state-of-the-art media center, library and classrooms.

The new facilities replace

"Everything is state of the art at one-third the cost," said Dr. Steve Balen, superintendent of Granite City schools

"Most school superintendents will preside over only one or two capital projects in their entire careers," said Balen.
"They don't have much of an opportunity to develop expertise in building programs.
And cost containment is primary. You need a profinent management reached with the control of the control familiar with school projects."

The district credits The Pistrui Group for much of the success of the project.

"The Pistrui team effectively took over things for us," said Balen.

"We wanted to help Granite City realize its vision with the agreed upon time frame and budget," said Jim Gillis, Pistrui's program manager for the project.

"He still writes and sends out 5,000 Christmas cards every year." The list grows, with each year's new boys. Somehow, they all become Keewaydin campers, as the sewaydin campers, as the anguage is different. The clothing is different," MacDonald says. "But when you get them down swimming or in a ballgame, they're pretty much when you get them down swimming or in a ballgame, they're pretty much waboos concurs: "Their attention balls may not be as keen. But I don't think they've changed a lot."

Confidence in retirement rising, few face hard facts about money

Americans are growing more confident about their retirement, but that may be because they're retaining to face bad news about how big a nest egg they need, says a survey whose sponsors include insurance companies, banks Most respondents said they haven't calculated how much savings they'll need to live comfortably, and many of today's workers—even those in their 50s—have saved less than $10,000 or even nothing at all.

Worlfed about Social Security's staying power, are starting to save for retirement at a younger age than their parents and older siblings.

The survey, financed by 22 organizations including the American Association of Retired Persons, was released as the Social Security Administration announced a 2.1 percent smallest since 1987.

Sixty-eight percent of workers questioned said they are very confident or somewhat confident of their retirement income prospects, proportion of those "not too" or "not at all" confident dropped from 37 percent to 30 percent.

"It's generally accepted that this is false cuffdence." said Jeffrey Love, senior research associate for the AARP. "There's a lot of faith here that things will work out, that they'll save later, that the stock market will steadily increase."

Stocks, as measured by the Dow Jones industrial average, rose nearly 50 percent between the two surveys, compared with a Despite most workers' confidence in their retirement prospects and even though a third would like to retire at age 55 or younger, only 36 percent said they have figured out how much they'll need. And a quarter of those can't give a figure when asked. That means nearly how much money they should accumulate.

Meanwhile, the proportion of workers saving regularly for retirement was 69 percent, up from 61 percent three years ago. But Mathew Greenwald, president of the Washington-based market research firm that conducted the "It's hard to hit a target if you don't have one. It's hard to make decisions about how much to save and how much to spend if you don't know what you're shooting for," he shid. Many aren't saving enough. Of workers born before the post-World War II baby boom, those age 53 and older, 11 percent said they had no retirement savings and 9 percent said they had less than $10,000.

Among the post-baby-boom generation, those age 25 to 33, 25 percent had no retirement savings. On the other hand, 20 percent already had accumulated $50,000 or more.

A look at other answers explains why.
Forty-seven percent of workers 33 and older expected their most important retirement income source would be an employer-funded pension or Social Security. Of those 33 or younger, only 22 percent said that Instead, 61

important income source.

The survey of 772 workers and 229 retirees was conducted by telephone in July. Participants were selected randomly to represent a cross-section of the U.S. population. There is a margin of error of plus or minus 4 percentage points for the workers and 6 percentage points for the retirees.

U.S. vehicle population passes 200-million mark

By Rick Stoff

The U.S. vehicle population passed the 200-million mark this summer, largely due to increasing sales of light trucks and the increasing longevity of all vehicles.

On June 30, American vehicle registrations stood at 20,070,397, according to the Polk Co, a marketing research firm that tracks state vehicle registration data. This is the first tracks that the vehicle registration data. This is the first tracks accounted for 2,7 million of the additional total. The automobile registration to the additional total. Ruby red berries double fun of torte and salad for great summer taste

When it comes to summer's special foods, classics are bound to be copied and rules are made to be broken, so let imagination charge into the kitchen to show what it can do with fresh raspberries. This raspberry dressing can be used over almost any salad or as a oppfing for the combinating impressively with raspberries, shrimp and avocado.

As dessert, a traditional European torte finds new flavor partners. Dense, moist, chewy, yet crisp, this version uses dates with peanuts, but does not let the nuts dominate. Fresh raspberries are a colorful part of the forte and serve as finishing touch on top.

Zoo-gazers walk up to light veggie sandwich

One sunny Sunday morning, I was running late to meet a friend at the zoo where we sometimes walk. There is a double benefit here. The animals entertain us, while we use good exercise as an excuse to amuse them.

muse them.

HEART-Y BITES
That morning there were too many things to do before leaving, so breakfast was not a possibility. I grabbed a breakfast bar and ran out the door eating and ran out the door eating the park.

After a couple hours of walking and viewing the frolicsome animals, it was no surprise we were hungry again. After discovering stand after stand of hot dogs, hamburgers, chips, bratwurst and ice cream, I finally came across something a little healthier.

A colorful variety of fresh vegetables served in a whole wheat pita made a guilt-free lunch. It was served with a dill dressing, which probably was not made with reduced-fat sour

So often, it seems, a busy schedule keeps us from finding the time to make something healthy to eat. That's when fast and convenient foods full of fat, cholesterol and calories start crowding out foods that are not only better for us, but also delicious. It is easy to use fresh vegetables — whatever is already in the refrigerator or specially bought for the occasion — and make a dressing for pitas. Becoming a vegan, with no animal products in his eating style, led him to lose 100 pounds and his cholesterol count to fall from 300 to 135.

He was surprised at his body's response to skipping animal products.

The victory for Winfrey, Lyman and others to criticize the cattle industry on her show, he says, did not contain a down side.

He counted educating the public about cattle practices, getting the press to stand up for free speech and developing an interest in more humane, safer and healthier eating styles among the benefits.

Freshest vegetables deserve zingiest flavor

It only makes sense. When preparing summer's freshest, tastiest, most nutritious fruits and vegetables, the best way to add flavor is to use equally fresh herbs. The bounty of fresh herbs includes parsley, basil, thyme, rosemary and chives.

When substituting fresh herbs for dried, use two or three clied because their flavor is much more subtle.

Most recipes call for herb leaves, but stems often have the strongest flavor.

Robust herbs — like sage, sorrel, marjoram and oregano — keep their flavor longer during cooking, but fine herbs with a more delicate taste — basil, chervil, tarragon and dill among them — should be serving.
